

MORGAN BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

Jack Morgan, accused slayer of Byron Crain, was bound over to the New Madrid Circuit Court under $7,500 bond following a preliminary hearing held Wednesday at 1 o'clock before Justice Givens in Morehouse. Morgan is accused of having shot and fatally wounded Crain during a roadhouse fray near Morehouse on the night of June 7. Crain died from the effects of the shots on June 20.

Morgan was finally brought to trial Wednesday after the preliminary hearing had been postponed four times previously. The prosecution led by J. Val Baker, prosecuting attorney of New Madrid County and assisted by Milo Gresham of Sikeston and Tom Gallivan of New Madrid wove a strong chain of circumstantial evidence about Morgan. It was pointed out that Morgan acted as master of ceremonies at the roadhouse the night of the fatal shooting; that he had ordered Crain to move his machine and that an argument ensued. Finally, it was claimed that Morgan entered the house immediately after the affair, carrying a pistol. He seemed pale and extremely nervous, witnesses declared. No actual witness of the shooting has been brought forward, nor did the defense offer a single witness. A final stroke of the prosecution hinged upon the fact that Morgan disappeared from Morehouse for several days after the shooting, and that he finally gave himself up and posted bond for appearance at the hearing.

Richard "Dick" Baynes, attorney of New Madrid, is acting counsel for the defense.

Several witnesses summoned to the hearing Wednesday were not called upon.

CAPE MAN CONFESSES TO EXTORTION PLOT

Following an all-night grilling by officers, Harry E. Brown of Cape Girardeau Thursday morning confessed that he played a lone hand in planning and executing the recent extortion plot purported to have been backed by the "Underworld of America". A young man, Ledbetter, picked up by Brown, recently in St. Louis, denied having a part in the plot and charged Brown with a frameup.

Brown, who is a former school teacher, salesman and expert electrician, confessed in full, but stated that he was driven to the extreme of extorting money to provide for his wife and children when he was unable to find work.

Three Cape Girardeau men received threatening letters demanding that sums of money be placed at a lonely spot on Highway 61 north of that city. Brown escaped the trap of officers of Southeast Missouri counties, but a chain of evidence has slowly been woven about Brown.

RAINFALL OF .18 INCHES RECORDED HERE THURS.

A rainfall of eighteen one-hundredths was recorded on the government gauge here early Thursday morning, bringing temporary if insufficient relief to parched lawns, gardens and farm crops. By mid-day all traces of the shower had disappeared and Old Sol had pushed the mercury into the upper nineties to continue the four-week heat record of high temperature.

Farmers stated that the slight shower would have little or no beneficial effects on farm crops. Corn is damaged fully 60 per cent, and pastures are burned to a crisp brown. Only three crops remain to give encouragement, cotton, peas and beans are now the mainstays of the heat stricken area near here.

Light rainfall was reported in other areas in the State this week. St. Louis, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau, Bismarck, and Ironton reported showers Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Frank Van Horne was called to his former home Monday night on account of the sudden death of his mother.

Ben F. Marshall, Jr., who is spending the month of July with his family in St. Louis, was a Sikeston visitor Wednesday. Ben's family will be returning to their home in Blodgett early in August.

Twelve perfect specimen of Indian pottery and twenty-two very imperfect skeltons, some of them possibly makers of the pottery itself, are the sum total of seven days work on the part of Kenzie Kennett Baker, better known as Shawneeoe Rock Eagle, and two assistants who for that length of time have been diligently probing a sand dune or "Indian Mound" on the Ned Matthews farm, five miles southeast of here.

Several years ago the owner of the land in question had visions of establishing a perfect peach orchard on the knoll. Either the nature of the ground, subsequent growing seasons or both, however, worked havoc with this dream. The peaches did not materialize, and a few scattered stunted trees bear witness to the experiment.

In the meantime farmer boys and youngsters from the local grade and high school made the would-be orchard their hunting ground for "Indian relics". Occasionally a find of flints, bits of broken pottery and the like would be reported. Sikeston school children formerly went to this particular mound on picnics. They left the city usually fully determined to unearth at least a drove of Indian chiefs and a box full of pottery and flints. Shoveling sand is quite devastating to good resolutions, especially the sporadic inclinations to work on the part of youngsters. Such anthropological expeditions invariably ended when the Indian hunters deserted shovels for whatever potato salad, sandwiches and cold drinks the girls in the class had prepared.

Thus the matter of really exploring systematically this ancient burial ground of the Cayuga Indians drifted along from year to year. The Cayuga tribe incidentally was one of the original Five Tribes of the Iroquois who originated in the New England States and gradually made felt their power as far west as the Mississippi and slightly beyond. Such at least is the supposition of historians.

Some time ago, Mr. Matthews arranged with Kinzie Kennett Baker, a native Southeast Missourian, who has achieved a wide reputation as a student of Indian lore, and as a collector of the remains of their civilization, to delve into the mound. He and two assistants, Tilford West and Bryan Miller have been at work in "the diggings" since Wednesday, July 16.

The work is systematically laid out and carefully executed. A pit or elongated ditch some 18 feet wide and at present 55 feet long is the center of interest. The pit at its deepest point is 4 feet, 10 inches deep, sloping gradually to the western edge of the mound where the work was begun. The two workmen carefully skim off the top layer of sand, taking approximately three inches of sand at each shovelful. The perpendicular bank is thus cut down in successive steps or layers, each step having a width the length of the shovel.

"Pay dirt" differs in color from ordinary sand in the mound. It is marked usually by bits of charcoal, the remains of burial fires which were lighted in honor of the warrior departed. Ashes and bits of charred wood were then cast into the open grave. Then too "pay sand" is marked by dark streaks caused by decomposition of the body and burial wraps. When such streaks are encountered, the workmen are even more cautious than usual, and when the shovel encounters the slightest bit of resistance the coarse work is halted entirely and smaller trowels or hands and fingers alone are brought into play.

Pottery and bones which have lain for a century or more in moist sand are extremely fragile, necessitating the careful procedure outlined. Even then one false move may result in wrecking a perfect specimen. Action of the sun and air soon dries out the pottery allowing more careless handling. Skeletons in numbers have been found, none, however in perfect condition. Whether or not the long-legged former inhabitants of the swamps utilized the bowls of chopped dog and maize placed at their head, and vessels of water likewise buried with the remains is not known. In most cases the transfer from this former vale of malaria infested swamp to the happy hunting grounds has been almost completed. At least the bones are conspicuous by their absence—insofar as they might be mounted in a collection of Indian remains.

Several unusual bits of pottery have been unearthed so far, and indications point to more profitable finds before the thirty-day contract expires. One vessel which has caused quite a bit of comment among local collectors is quite novel. Three bulbs connected by small earthen rods form a triangular base which supports a larger globe. A long neck protrudes from the central portion of the globe which incidentally is decorated with a reclining figure. The perfectly shaped bit of pottery probably rested originally in the exclusive wigwam of an Iroquois chieftain, and was prized no doubt as one of the major luxuries.

The remains indicate that the tribe was in truth long-legged. Seven feet from head to toe is the measure taken by Baker in three specific instances. Whether or not the skeletons measuring this extreme length are truly indicative of the height in life or whether some ritual after death called for some unusual mode of burial is not known.

This much is certain, 90 per cent of the skeletons are found lying head to the east, feet to the west. This bit of consistency is of value to the investigators, for when they strike any part of a skeleton, they are relatively certain to uncover specimen of pottery by working carefully toward the torso and head of the brave. One warrior was uncovered still grasping a stone hatchet.

"I am well satisfied with the results shown thus far," indicated Mr. Matthews.

"I am using the experience gained in 18 years of hunting Indian relics," stated Kinzie Kennett Baker.

"The work is like play," says Mr. West and Mr. Miller, "you never know what the next shovel will uncover. They add, "but we hope we don't get that Egyptian disease those boys 'took' while looking for King Tut!"

LOCALS WILL ENTERTAIN OUT-OF-STATE GOLFERS

Sikeston will be host next Sunday to Cairo, Ill., golfers who are playing a return match here. Neither city had officially listed the players who will participate. Scott, medalist of the local club in Southeast Missouri competition, will be absent. He and Mrs. Scott are enjoying a vacation and are visiting among other points, Yellowstone National Park.

Blytheville, Ark., will play a return match here Sunday, August 3.

A PHANTOM PRISONER?

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of a young man lodged in jail here Monday night, suspected of driving a car with stolen license plates. A memorandum to that effect had been left in the office of the Chief of Police, but the day following when meal time arrived, I. N. Kirby could find no prisoner. The memorandum likewise has disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Miley Limbaugh spent Sunday at Big Springs.

Dr. T. C. McClure, Harry Blanton, W. H. Sikes and Ed Coleman were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews, Wednesday evening.

Bids will be opened at the Super-
vising Architects office, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., July 30, for taking test pits and to get
other information pertaining to the
foundation for the new postoffice
building in Sikeston that is to be erected at an early date. We hope
there will be no serious impediments
found in the local site. Some years ago the Architects office was building a custom house at San Francisco
to cost several million dollars and
when the foundation to the immense
structure was finished, one corner
section of the foundation broke off
and sunk out of sight in one night.
Engineers found that at one time an
arm of the sea had extended over the
building site and this corner was over
the pocket of quick sand and the
tons and tons of concrete, granite
and steel were too heavy for the watery sand to hold it up. It cost the Government $175,000 to sink mats of
cross T-irons and beds of concrete to
fill up the hole so the building could
be completed. At Chicago, after spending $5,000,000 for a granite
custom house, and after the building
had been accepted but not occupied,
the building cracked, heavy stone
cornices fell to the sidewalk, and the
building was sold to the Chicago
Wrecking Co. for a nominal
sum and they took it down and junked
it. Several blocks over from this Custom House, an entire block of
buildings bulged up and cracked,
caused by the heavy Government
building sinking in a pocket of quick
sand that ran under the city that
forced the block that was built on
another pocket of quick sand to bulge
up and crack. We are not expecting to find anything of this sort in Sikeston, but the Government is mighty
particular.

With the price of wheat still down
around 70 to 80 cents we hope some
genius one of these days will discover
a loaf of bread which will sell for
a trifle less. Bread still costs the same as it did when wheat was selling for $2 or upward, yet the seven
or eight loaves which it takes to
equal the value of a bushel of wheat
uses only a small part of the said
bushel of wheat. If the farmer isn't
to get anything for his wheat it is
unfair for his town cousin (and the farmer himself) to have to go on
paying just the same as if he did
realize something on it.—Caruthers-
ville Democrat.

A steady decline in the prevalence
of bovine tuberculosis in the United States has taken place in the last few years as a result of the co-operative campaign to eradicate the infection, the United States Department of Agriculture reports. The average infection among cattle, for the
entire country, is now 1.7 per cent,
whereas in 1922 it was 4 per cent. On
May 1, 1930, there were 946 counties
officially designated as "modified accredited areas", also 42 towns in Ve-
mont, indicating that these areas are
practically free from bovine tuberculosis.

WORK ALONG RIVER IS BOON TO UNEMPLOYED

"Ole Man River", praised in rhyme, lauded in prose, loved, feared and sometimes hated, is really doing something to relieve the unemployment situation.

For since July 1, according to
Capt. L. C. Gordon, executive officer
of the U. S. Engineers, approximately 2000 men have been hired for river
work, bringing the total working
force to date in the Memphis district,
to between 3000 and 3500 men and
that's not all—jobs will be given to
approximately 350 additional men
within the next two or three weeks,
Captain Gordon says.

These openings, he pointed out,
are mainly for common labor and
will be at New Madrid.

The latter part of next week the
engineering force starts work on its
share of the Memphis harbor improvement project, the equipment being moved down from Osceola, Ark.,
and "spotted" beneath the bluffs between Talbot and Pennsylvania avenues. The government's share of the project's cost will be $300,000, it was
said.

"Most of the force employed at Osceola", Captain Gordon pointed out, "will follow to Memphis. Our
working force varies, depending upon the jobs. Go up and down the river any day and you'll see jobless
laborers lolling on the river banks
awaiting the call....many even sleeping there. How they obtain
sufficient food is a mystery.

"This time last year it was a problem to find labor. We had to ship
workers in from Mobile, St. Louis
and other points. This year there is an over supply.

"When crew foremen need men on
the jobs in this district they requisition
this office, and we supply them".

Applicants for employment are directed to the personnel office on the ninth floor of the McCall Bldg.—

83 OF MISSOURI'S 114 COUNTIES LOST AND 31 GAINED IN CENSUS

St. Louis, July 25.—Numerous
changes in rank among Missouri
counties were made by the 1930 census, in which 83 counties lost and 31
counties gained population, according to tabulations of the Associated Press.

St. Louis City, of course, remains the largest population unit. Jackson, St. Louis and Buchanan retain their ranks of one, two, three among the counties. The first change is in Greene, becoming fourth, relacing

Jasper, which dropped to fifth. Pemiscot advanced from nineteenth to sixth. St. Francois advanced from
eighth to seventh, exchanging places with Dunklin, which dropped from seventh to eighth. Pettis dropped
from sixth to ninth, and Marion from
ninth to tenth.

The present ranks of counties from 11 to 35, with 1920 rank in parentheses, follow: Cape Girardeau 11
(11), Boone 12 (13), Cole 13 (27),
Saline 14 (14), Franklin 15 (15),
New Madrid 16 (22), Lafayette 17
(10), Stoddard 18 (12), Jefferson 19
(21), Newton 20 (25), Clay 21 (36),
Randolph 22 (17), Nodaway 23 (16),
Macon 24 (18), Vernon 25 (20), Scott
26 (32), St. Charles 27 (33), Lawrence 28 (28), Butler 29 (29), Linn
30 (26), Barry 31 (31), Henry 32
(23), Johnson 33 (24), Audrain 34
(35), Bates 35 (30).

St. Louis County, which more than doubled in population, showed the largest percentage increase—109—

followed by Pemiscot with 39.9 per cent, Clay 29.8, Jackson 26, Cole 25, Mississippi 22.5, Greene 20.7, and New Madrid 20. Greene County made the largest numerical increase aside
from St. Louis and Jackson counties.

Carter County now has the smallest population, 5495. Hickory County formerly had the fewest persons.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT

How Cheap Electricity Really Is

And how hard it would be to get along without it.
The average American family uses 10c worth of electricity a day.
For the average family,

10c buys the food for only 1 hour
10c buy the rent for only 1 1/2 hours
10c buys the clothing for only 2 hours
10c runs the automobile for only 2 miles
but

10c BUYS THE ELECTRICITY FOR 24 HOURS

Use electricity freely. It saves your eyes, your health, your strength, your time. And it costs so little.

Missouri Utilities Residential Customers Use 11.5% More Than Last Year

Residential customers of the Missouri Utilities Company are more and more realizing the economy, comfort and convenience of using electricity freely. They now use 11.5% more than a year ago—for lighting, for cooking, for toasting, for ironing, for cooling, for cleaning, for numberless tasks.
On the Missouri Utilities low energy rate, electricity for the numerous uses and appliances is really very cheap, and customers are encouraged to use it freely.

GEO. L. DYE, Mgr.

ZIMMERMAN THE MAN TO LEAD DEMOCRATS TO VICTORY

The Democrats of Dunklin County present to their fellow Democrats of the 14th Congressional District Hon. Orville Zimmerman of Dunklin County as a candidate for the nomination to Congress.

Mr. Zimmerman is in the prime of life, upstanding and thoroughly qualified; has never been a candidate for any office. He is a most excellent citizen, an active church worker, Mason, member of the Lions Club and American Legion, and of unquestioned character; is a lawyer of great ability, fine address and personality.

He has, in season and out, given his time and his money for the welfare of the party and its nominees. He represents 7500 Democrats of Dunklin County who have always responded to the call for the November victory. There has not been in 25 years a single nominee for any office in the gift of the party and for County could vote, who has not been whom the Democrats of Dunklin aided on the stump by Mr. Zimmerman.

He is an able and eloquent speaker and it is largely due to his unselfish service that Dunklin County has, year after year, responded with huge Democratic majorities.

We believe Dunklin County is entitled to have the candidate for Congress this year. There has never been a Congressman from Dunklin County, although we have contributed more to the majorities of the successful candidates than has any other county in the district. This has been the case for more than 40 years. Other counties about us and over the State have faltered and some of them captured by the enemy, but not so with Dunklin County. The battles have often been fierce, but our ranks have never broken and our majorities continue to grow.

Flood Control is the big problem in the east end of the district. Zimmerman has intimate knowledge of our flood disasters. With him as our standard bearer, Republicans by the hundreds in the east portion of the district will rally to his support in November.

With Zimmerman as the nominee for Congress victory is assured. We earnestly ask that the Democrats of the 14th District at the primary on August 5, 1930, support Mr. Zimmerman.

Zimmerman Campaign Committee.

Cuba—Irene Hat Shoppe opened for business.

A Missouri schoolhouse and five nearby buildings will be moved to make way for the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway.

Crop rotation, clean fall plowing, and general clean-up of cornstalks or other crop residue are recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for control of barley scab, which causes severe losses in the central and Eastern States. Fields of barley showing scab infection should be allowed to become fully ripe and dry before cutting. This helps to prevent spread of the infection in the bundle and shock. As yet no scab-resistant variety of barley has been developed.

Because of the fact that wheat is cheaper at the present time than corn, farmers can profitably utilize wheat and oats in feeding both old and young chickens. According to County Agent Scott M. Julian, wheat and oats in recent years, have not been recommended widely in Missouri in either grain or mash feed, but this has been because of the fact that wheat has been higher per bushel than yellow corn and oats have been poor in quality. Feeding experiments at the Missouri College of Agriculture indicate that excellent results may be obtained by using a large proportion of wheat and oats in poultry rations. It is necessary to emphasize at this point that oats should be heavy in weight, that is weighing more than 34 pounds to the bushel, if they are to be used in poultry rations. Light, chaffy oats are too bulky to be utilized to the best advantage by chickens. Therefore, it is not desirable under any circumstances to use poor quality oats in the poultry ration for either young or old stock.

In the past corn has been regarded as the basis for grain foods. A satisfactory grain mixture may be composed of 100 pounds of corn and 100 pounds of wheat, or a good mixture may be made of 100 pounds of corn, 100 pounds of wheat and 100 pounds of heavy oats. Experimental results indicate that digestive disturbances might be caused by using wheat exclusively for chicken feed. For this reason, it is suggested that corn and heavy oats to be used with wheat for the grain food in feeding laying hens. It is not desirable to use, even heavy oats, in feeding young stock until they are mature in size.

A satisfactory laying mash for the hens may be composed of 200 pounds corn meal, 200 pounds ground wheat, 200 pounds heavy ground oats, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt. This mash mixture is especially applicable in feeding the laying hens on those farms where the oats are high in quality and heavy in weight. In those communities where oats are not so high in quality, but weigh more than 32 pounds to the bushel, the following mash mixture may be used with a high degree of success: 200 pounds corn meal, 300 pounds ground wheat, 100 pounds ground oats, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt.

On farms where heavy oats are not available for use in the mash mixture a mash food may be made up of 200 pounds corn meal, 200 pounds ground wheat, 200 pounds shorts or finely ground bran, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt.

A culling school will be held on the afternoon of Monday, August 4 at the home of Mrs. A. Kirsch, located at the intersection of Highway 61 in the spur to Lilburn.

This is the fourth meeting of this kind to be held in New Madrid County and is decidedly worthwhile for poultry raisers. Harold Canfield, Poultry Specialist, from the Missouri College of Agriculture will be in charge of the meeting assisted by the County Agent, Scott M. Julian. The main work will be taken up with the culling of poultry in detail, but other questions connected with chicken raising will also be taken care of.

SHORTS MAY BE SHORTS BUT NOT WITH MATH TEACHER

Columbia, July 22.—A woman member of the University of Missouri faculty yesterday took summary action to put an end to an epidemic of "shorts" starting among men students.

Robert Galbraith, Chicago, clad in shorts, entered a class in mathematics taught by Nola E. Anderson. Miss Anderson didn't like it. She told him about it. The class burst into laughter. The student, his cheeks aflame, fled the classroom.

"Shorts" being worn on the Missouri campus vary from the lower half of combination underwear, brilliantly striped, to white flannel trousers sheared off just above the knee. No women students have thus far ventured forth in the new attire.

SENATORS INSIST U. S. ACT IN WHEAT CRISIS

Washington, July 22.—Insistence the Farm Board take action to increase the present price of wheat to the farmer came from Senators of four wheat growing States today on the heels of Chairman Legge's statement that criticism of the board's wheat policy is mostly "political bunk".

In a conference with Chairman Legge, five Senators, led by Capper of Kansas, urged the board to act "to aid the present critical situation". Something should be done, they contended, "to give the farmer a better price while the wheat still is in his hands and before it gets into the hands of speculators".

The group included Capper and Allen of Kansas; Pine of Oklahoma; Howell of Nebraska and McMaster of South Dakota.

The purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat of the 1930 crop was again urged by Senator Capper. The suggestion the government should buy the wheat and thus relieve the market situation, and either sell or give the grain to China or India was made by the other Senators.

The buildings in school district No. 3 of Mississippi County, will be placed 700 feet southwest of their present location, according to bids asked yesterday by the Memphis District, U. S. Engineers, to be opened July 28.

Though rats are probably decreasing in numbers, these pests are still mankind's greatest enemies in the animal world, and man should wage constant warfare against them. The most important thing in rat control is to remove rat shelters or make them inaccessible. The most common shelters are dead spaces within double walls and beneath floors, stored produce and supplies, lumber piles and trash or refuse. Abolish the rats' food supply by storing foodstuffs in rat-proof buildings or rooms and by disposing of waste and garbage in tightly covered receptacles. Poisoning, fumigating and trapping are methods of destroying rats. Small terrier dogs, especially when taught to hunt by themselves, often keep a farm free from rats.

ROADS CUT RATES BELOW BUS LINES

Close on the heels of further rate cuts by the bus lines, the Frisco and the Illinois Central Railroads yesterday announced another reduction in their rates from St. Louis to Memphis.

The new rates, effective Tuesday, is $5 for a round trip. This is one dollar below the new bus rate and the same as the bus rate for a one-way ticket. The old rail rate was $11.19 one way, $22.38 two ways, but this was reduced to $6 for a round trip when the battle between busses and steam trains for business began.

Earlier this week the Atlantic & Pacific Stages, Pickwick Greyhound Lines, and the bus line operated by the Cotton Belt Railroad announced the $6 round trip rate to Memphis. The rate slashing began when the Cotton Belt Line entered the field with rates below the rail schedule and the Illinois Central and Frisco Lines retaliated with the $6 rates.

Sweet corn loses its sugar content very quickly after being removed from the stalk and when possible should be picked only an hour or so before it is to be cooked.

The Hessian fly is the worst insect enemy of wheat in the United States. Farmers must depend on preventive measures to control this pest. These include moderately late sowing, rotation of crops, plowing-under of stubble, destruction of volunteer wheat, enrichment of the soil, thorough preparation of the seedbed, and good seed.

Both editors of The Standard and
The Herald received a communication Thursday morning from Omar
D. Gray, a newspaper broker, asking if the Skeston papers were for sale
as he had a customer who wished to locate in Southeast Missouri, combine the papers and print a daily.
Suits us, but it will take cash to get ty.

It is true there has been a great deal of talk about Morehouse as being the "oasis in the desert of thirst",
but if we Skestonians did not seek
the cooling beverage, there would be no home brew joints in that city. A few bad apples will damage the entire barrel, so a few bad actors at Morehouse has given the town a bad
name. Just lots of fine people live
there and some of these days they
are going to rise up and force the
few undesirables to leave the community. The Sheriff and the Prosecuting Attorney of that county, we feel certain, will assist the good people to clean up the "joints" if called upon. Jail and penitentiary senti-ences might help, too.

A very strong chain of circumstantial evidence was woven around Jack Morgan at Morehouse, Wednesday,
at the preliminary hearing for shooting Byron Crain at "Zula's Place".
The trial in the circuit court of New
Madrid will likely develop surprises
as the defense offered no evidence at
the preliminary hearing.

The Standard expects to spill a few beans through its columns at an early date. False claims and printed misinformation are the things that The Standard, and all fair and honorable citizens should condemn.

It's really true. Circus tickets free. It's easier by far than watering elephants—or taking a chance by slipping under the canvas. By special arrangement with Cole Brothers' big circus, The Skeston Standard offers kiddies and grownups an opportunity of seeing absolutely free every side show, main tent attractions
'n everything, monkeys included. A half page announcement in this issue of The Standard explains the plan. Spend a few minutes covering your neighborhood for a new subscriber to The Standard, collect $1.50
and the ticket is yours. Remember it must be a NEW subscriber. In case a relative or friend of the family out of town wishes The Standard
send us the subscription price and a ticket will be mailed direct to you.
Get busy, each day brings its quota
of new subscribers and remember that only 100 free tickets were available in the first place. The big show will be held on August 1.

And now Dolores Del Rio, the handsome Mexican girl, is accused of breaking up a happy family. Well, we expect she could cause trouble in most any family as women folks are funny that way. Hope she will never visit our fair city in person. To see her on the screen is almost enough to make any weak man leave his happy home let alone having her with us in the flesh.

President Hoover will make no speeches on his Western trip, it is announced. Certainly not; what could he find to talk about?

Ralph E. Mattocks, editor of the Chaffee Signal, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Recorder of Deeds of Scott County. He has every other qualification, connected with youth and ambition and the party over there could do much worse
than second his motion to have himself nominated for this office.—Dexter Statesman.

the Democratic nomination for Congress from this District, was a Sikeston visitor Tuesday afternoon. He visited Morley in the evening, then

MOTHER TELLS WHAT KONJOLA DID FOR GIRL

Just Another Reason Why
Konjola Is A Household Word
In Tens Of Thousands Of Homes.

MRS. ANNA SCHNELMAN

Konjola is a medicine for the aged
and the infant; for all the family. It contains no alcohol, no nerve-dead-
ening drugs, no heart depressing
chemicals. It needs no such ingredients. Read, now, the words of this
happy mother, Mrs. Anna Schnelmann, 7131 Vermont avenue, St. Louis, who says:

"My daughter Bernice, 13, was in a terribly run down condition. She had
no desire to play, and school work
was a burden. She had no appetite,
no ambition, and after meals complained of severe pains. She was under weight, and not a thing we tried
helped her. But in three weeks after taking Konjola a wonderful change
came over her. She gained six
pounds; her appetite is good and she
has no stomach pains nor headaches.
She hardly seems like the same little
girl, and is taking pleasure in her
school work and is out playing every
day. Konjola certainly brought happiness to both of us."

Don't get the idea that Konjola is new and different. A test will prove
to you why Konjola is the most widely discussed and highly praised medicine in America.

Konjola is sold in Skeston at the Derris Drug Store, nad by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

AN ODDITY APPEARS AMONG CANNAS PLANTED IN WATERWORKS PARK

If left to Ed Branham, assistant to Lon Swanner, water commissioner,
cannas would be varigated.

A casual observer noticed a peculi-arity in one of the hundreds of can-
nas bordering the neat park. At first sight it appeared that a yellow
canna bore a single red flower. Closer inspection revealed, however, that
the "Tiger Lily" canna had claim to
real distinction. Each petal carries
a vertical line of demarkation. One-
half is solid red, the other is yellow.
Experts on such matters insist that
the form of variegation is most unusual.

If the "sport" or mutation can be fixed, Branham can claim credit for a new variety. It is necessary, however, to "fix" the mutation for four
consecutive years before it can be
marketed as a new variety.

SIKESTON TO TAKE PART IN SCOUT MOVE

The organized effort for better Scouting in Sikeston is well underway. At the present time plans are formed to raise the balance that is lacking so that Sikeston may become a part of the official Boy Scout area of this section of the State. Monday night several of the most interested business men of Sikeston met in the Chamber of Commerce room with Mr. Middleton, who is in charge of the organization work for this district, and formulated plans to complete the drive that is now going on.

The idea of the move that is now underway is this, Sikeston will, if she can pay her part, be represented in this area and that will mean that the Scouts from Sikeston will get to take part and get to help build a camp in Southeast Missouri. This will mean more and better Scouting, one of the most worthy causes that ever existed. The other leading towns of the section are very active in the work and those that are interested in better boyhood in Sikeston are lending their undivided efforts to the cause. The money, when raised will go to defray the expense of the camp, to help pay the organization expense and to serve in the general fund to take care of obligations as they may arise. Sikeston's part in the district move is $500, part of which has been paid to date. The interested ones are also raising $100 to go toward the Scout fund to be kept in Sikeston to take care of the local needs as they come up. Of the total amount of $600 that is to be raised to date $481 has been collected.

Following the discussion of the money problem the following executive board to represent Sikeston in this district was elected: Chairman, C. E. Brenton. Mr. Brenton will be in charge of the general Scouting move for Sikeston and represents Sikeston on the board of the district. Lyle Malone was elected Commissioner. This office is one of the most responsible in the organization. The duties of this office are to keep up the standards, to organize, and to be in charge of the examinations for the merit badges. Ed Hollingsworth is to take care of the money and of financing the move. Along with the above elected board the following chairmen were elected: Court of Honor, Clint Denman. The duties of the office are to confer the honor and acknowledge the work of the Scouts. Organization Chairman, J. Ernest Harper, the duties of this office are to get the various organizations of Sikeston to get behind the move and help share the responsibility of its success. Training and leadership Chairman, Frank Van Horne, Camp Chairman, Harry Young.

If the plans work out as started it will mean better boyhood for the youths of Sikeston, and in turn better citizens for our town. Those who are taking an active part in the move ask that those who are asked to aid, in one way or another, to please help all that is possible for it is a move that is worthy of the effort and the results are those that are bound to be for the betterment of all concerned.

C. D. Matthews, Jr., made a business trip to St. Louis, Thursday.

Carl Davis, wife and four daughters, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, are here to spend a week with the family of J. C. Davis.

The public is invited to the ice cream social held on the Baptist church lawn Friday night. Lemonade, ice cream and cake for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Wentzell of Brooklyn, N. Y., who have been visiting the past two weeks with relatives and friends, returned to their home Tuesday. The latter's brother, Glenn W. Anderson, accompanied them home.

The order of the Woman's Benefit Association will enjoy a social entertainment next Monday night at the I. O. O. F. Hall at 7:30 o'clock. All members are invited to come and bring your husband. A good time will be enjoyed, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served.

MISS HELEN MALIN WEDS DR. H. E. REUBER SUNDAY

St. John, Kansas, July 20.—Miss Helen Malin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Malin, and Dr. Harold Eugene Reuber, of Sikeston, Mo., were married at the home of the bride's parents in Cleveland township Sunday afternoon at five o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Austin, of the Methodist Episcopal church of St. John. Immediately after a buffet luncheon had been served to the thirty guests, the couple left for an extended honeymoon through Colorado and Wyoming.

Attendants were Mrs. Wayne Davidson, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Mr. Davidson as best man. Little Laura Bowker was ring-bearer. Prior to the wedding procession, Miss Winona Seevers played Chopin's "Nocturne in F Sharp", and Miss Sarah Seevers sang "Love, Here Is My Heart", by Silesu, and "Because", by Guy D'Hardelot.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party descended the stairs, where they were met by the groom and his attendant. Miss Malin was gowned in a flowing creation of cream colored silk net over pale yellow taffeta and carried a bouquet of French Pernee roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendant wore a dress of pink chiffon and carried a bunch of Ophelia roses; while the ring bearer was dressed in pale pink georgette. The bride's going-away costume was of navy blue crepe with accessories to match.

The color scheme of pastel shades ranging from peach to pale yellow was carried out in the refreshments, the feature of which was ice cream moulded in the shape of golden slippers.

Miss Malin is a graduate of Drury

College and of the St. John High School. She has lived in this community all her life. Dr. Reuber who is a Shriner and a member of the Lion's Club, was appointed two weeks ago to the Missouri State Board of Osteopathic examination and registration by Governor Caulfield.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. J. H. Allison, St. Paul, Minn., sister of Dr. Reuber; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Malin, Turpin, Okla.; Mrs. J. A. Malin, Liberal; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davidson, Emporia, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Smith and family, Larned.

Miss Winona Seevers caught the bride's bouquet which was tossed after the ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. Reuber will be at home in Sikeston, after September 15.

ELDER JOHN B. HUFFMAN WILL PREACH AGAIN IN MALONE PARK SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Elder John B. Huffman, Chairman of the Pentecostal church of God, announces that, due to several prominent citizens requesting him to preach again in Malone Park, he has acceded to their demands and announces that he will preach again next Saturday evening, July 26, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, July 27. They will try to have more seats arranged this time. The writer is glad that so many business men and prominent people and good women from some of the other churches were present Sunday evening. There were enough in cars, around the stand and away back from the stand standing up and on the ground to have filled several stands—a large audience present.

Saturday night, he will preach on "The Great Judgment Day" or "Final Judgment Day"—first part. Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, he will present the "Great Judgment Day"—second part. Sunday afternoon, the speaker will take a few minutes to show where the different nations and languages came from, and from whence came "The Negro". In the same service he will answer by the Bible "Is there a real Hell"? or just the grave, as some of the Hebrew words, "Sheol", and Greek words "Hades" assert. He will show that there is a real hell, and that if there is no hell, there is no heaven or place of eternal rest.

Everybody invited to hear these special discourses. Elder Huffman has traveled 120,000 miles over the United States and Canada preaching the gospel to 24 different nationalities.

Come and bring the children with you and let them cry, if they can't help it. It won't bother me if a dozen cry at a time, as I have nothing written. It comes from the heart and a knowledge of the word of God. The poorest person and the richest are invited. Folks from all the churches and all sinners especially tendered an invitation. If you only have overalls or one dress, come. If you want to wear the finest and costliest apparel, come on. Everybody cordially welcomed. No respect to persons. All treated alike.

Pentecostal Church of God will erect a nice house of worship in Sikeston some time before March 1, perhaps by January 1, 1930.—John Huffman.

NEED OF RAIN IS GENERAL OVER SOUTH AND CENTRAL PORTION OF MISSOURI

A brief 600-mile combination tour of inspection and vacation reveals that farmers in Southeast Missouri, Southern and Central Illinois, Central Missouri and the Ozark section of this State have one thing in common—they need rain.

One young man interested in fishing took particular pains to include his tackle, rod, reel and supplies when he left on a vacation trip. Visions of cool, deep swimming holes, and the renewing of old-time acquaintances with good fishing places assumed prominent places on the schedule of things to be done.

Farmers and drainage districts near the old home town had in the meantime straightened the channel of the two more promising rivers. The young man in question found farm-to-market traffic heavy and the dust fierce in the new channel which was to have been the scene of piscatorial battles. Farmers were driving to town using the creek bed as a short cut highway.

Truck gardeners in Southern Illinois were busy shipping cucumbers, tomatoes and green beans to market. Peaches in the fruit belt and around shipping centers, Anna, Cobden and other points in Southern Illinois are absent this year. Frost killed the entire crop.

Farmers in Missouri's black land belt, Saline, Pettis and Lafayette Counties, informed the roving correspondent that they planned to start cutting corn for silage this week, in a drastic effort to save something for feed this winter. The crop is firing badly, late corn alone giving promise of a short crop provided it gets rain within the next ten days or two weeks.

A peculiar condition exists in the Missouri Ozarks. Thousands of acres of woodland noticed on the way from St. Louis to Poplar Bluff, appear in Autumn hues. Tops of the Ozark hills and southern slopes are badly fired, and foliage appears to the observer to be tinted brown and red as in late fall.

He is survived by his wife and his son, Richard, Jr., his parents, Mr. and William Logan, and two brothers, Raymond of this city and Cleve Logan of St. Louis, and two sisters, Mesdames Dolly Cagle and Grace Dillow of St. Louis. All of whom were here to attend the funeral service.

The recent discovery that ripe olives contain vitamin A suggests using them more frequently in the menu. Ripe olives are excellent when added to sandwich fillings.

To make white icing which never fails, put into a double boiler one cup of sugar, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 egg white, not beaten, and 1-8 teaspoon of salt. Have the water in the lower part boiling. Commence beating the mixture at once with a Doer egg beater and beat constantly while it cooks for seven or eight minutes. It should then look just like ordinary boiled frosting and should be almost thick enough to spread. Take it from the stove, add 1-2 teaspoon of vanilla and continue to beat about 5 minutes or until it has thickened.

'HEEL OF MISSOURI' MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF ILLUSTRIOUS SON

Steele, Mo., July 21.—The "Heel of Missouri"—the sub-tropical empire extending south of the famous Missouri Compromise line into the great independent "republic" of Arkansas—stands as a lasting monument to the memory of one of Southeast Missouri's most illustrious sons—Col. John Hardeman Walker.

It was through the prestige, influence and untiring efforts of this pioneer Missourian that the southern boundary line of the State was extended into the territory of Arkansas, around Pemiscot, Dunklin and a part of New Madrid Counties, that Missouri is today the proud owner of 1100 square miles of the finest alluvial soil on the face of the globe, and the pages of Arkansas history robbed of the name—John Hardeman Walker—in her long and growing list of distinguished sons.

In 1794, the French-Canadian trapper and trader—Francois LeSieur, who with his brother, Joseph, had settled in New Madrid in 1783, moved to Pemiscot County and opened a trading post at Little Prairie, about two miles south of the present site of Caruthersville. The post surrounded by a great number of Indians and an abundance of wild game—prospered from the start and was soon numbered among the important trading posts of the Mississippi valley. In 1810, the village boasted of 24 logs cabins and about 100 people, including the personnel of the old Spanish fort St. Fernando.

It was about the year 1810, that Walker, a lad of 16 years, crossed the Mississippi River from his home in Fayette County, Tenn.—landed at Little Prairie, or Fort St. Fernando, where he remained until the time of his death—April 30, 1860. He was the first white man to settle in the territory of Pemiscot County for the sole purpose of farming and stock raising. He soon acquired a large acreage of wild land along the banks of the Mississippi, from Little Prairie to a point north of the old site of Gayoso, and an immense herd of wild cattle that roamed the swamps of Pemiscot County at will. The cattle, without trouble or expense, thrived on the wild grass and tall cane that skirted the banks of the numerous lakes of the county until it is said that the country swarmed with wild cattle—valued only for their hides and what little beef was needed to supply the tables of the few scattered families of the county.

An old settlement, on Pemiscot Bayou, three miles west of Steele, is said to have derived its name "Cow-skin" from the fact that each year Walker would journey to the heart of the wilderness and slaughter hundreds of cattle—skin them, and dry their hides along the banks of the bayou before shipping them south to New Orleans.

The New Madrid earthquake of 1811-12, when the alluvial valley of Southeast Missouri was cast into semi-darkness and the surface of the earth rolled and tumbled as angry waves of a storm tossed sea—trees were uprooted—lake created, and the log constructed home of the pioneer thrown into instant ruin. The people, panic stricken, fled for their lives. The country was practically depopulated—Walker alone remaining in the territory now designated as Pemiscot County.

He remained to become the "Czar of the Valley"—"the law" of the "Heel of Missouri"—subject only to the will of his friends—the constituted authorities of New Madrid. He was without question the most prominent and influential man of his day in this section of the State.

From the year 1817, when the first petitions were circulated asking Congress to authorize the organization of a State government until the act of Congress of March 6, 1820, authorizing the organization of the new State—the Missouri boundary line dispute had fired the country with the question of the question of slavery which at times threatened the very foundation of the federal government. The much debated question was settled by the "famous" Missouri Compromise, and the establishment of slavery and anti-slavery line as parallel 36 degrees and 30' north latitude. In the first memorial to Congress this line was designated as the southern boundary line of the proposed State, leaving the "Heel of Missouri" in the unorganized territory of Arkansas.

Through the personal efforts of Colonel Walker, assisted by his brother-in-law, Dr. Robert D. Dawson, of New Madrid, then a member of the territorial council; Gen. Jas. Evans, United States Senator, and Judge Richard J. Thomas, a prominent lawyer of Jackson, Mo., the territorial legislature on November 22, 1818, adopted a memorial to Congress, asking that the southern boundary line of the State be extended to include the territory between the Mississippi and St. Francois rivers as far south as the 36th parallel. This request was granted and the holdings of Colonel Walker in the "Heel of Missouri" annexed to the new State of Missouri.

In 1821, Colonel Walker was elected and served as the first sheriff of New Madrid County, after which he was elected presiding judge of the county court, with all the territory now included in Pemiscot, Dunklin, Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid Counties under his jurisdiction.

With the organization of Pemiscot County in 1851, Walker practically retired from public life. However, after an active and successful public career, crowded with accomplishments, his every undertaking crowned with the laurel wreath of victory—he refused to quit.

In 1857, at the age of 63, he laid off the city of Caruthersville, the capital of Pemiscot County, now the oldest and most beautiful city in the "Heel of Missouri" which has replaced the old capital city of Gayoso, which went into the river over fifty years ago. Little Prairie, the old home of Colonel Walker, preceded Gayoso by several years as a victim of the ravages of the mighty Father of Waters—no trace of either of the old towns remains. Caruthersville alone remains of the river towns in this section of the State.

A plain marble slab, in the shadow of the palatial Eastwood Memorial Methodist Church, in the heart of the City of Caruthersville, marks the grave of Col. John Hardeman Walker, who, nearly three quarters of a century ago was laid to rest in the walnut grove in the outskirts of the village of Caruthersville—established by Walker in memory of the all but forgotten village of Little Prairie.—Commercial Appeal.

Pasture is valuable for hogs but for best results should not be grazed too closely. Put in any one lot only as many hogs as can get abundant feed. Ordinarily an acre will furnish pasture for from 5 to 15 hogs averaging 100 pounds. It is a good plan to have two pastures and alternate them; then they can be grazed fairly close and will still provide good, succulent feed. Pasture crops that are allowed to mature do not furnish good feed for hogs.

The house centipede is not a true insect, but a species of "thousand legs". It aids in keeping down the number of such pests as house flies, roaches, moths and other insects. Centipedes seldom bite but should they do so, dress the wound with household ammonia. To get rid of centipedes, kill all individuals that appear and dust any moist places around pipes and so on with pyrethrum powder.

Poultry that arrives at the market "overcrowded" may sell for a lower price or may be subject to deduction in weight to allow for the feed in the crops. To prevent this, feed birds liberally just before shipment but put no feed in the coops, if they are to reach the market the same day they are shipped. If they will not arrive at the market for 24 hours or longer, nail in the coop one or two tin cans filled with corn well soaked in water.

SIKESTON TO ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF FLOOD COMMITTEE FRIDAY NOON

Thirty-five members of the Congressional Flood Control Committee will be entertained with a banquet at the Hotel Marshall Friday, arriving here by Missouri Pacific Bus at 12:30 o'clock. At one o'clock the meeting will be thrown open to the public so that all may learn in detail some of the findings of the flood control committee. The party arrives here from Dexter.

A tour of government flood control projects on the Mississippi started about two weeks ago at New Orleans, and will be concluded Saturday night in Cape Girardeau, when the committee disbands. The itinerary beginning Thursday included visits to Memphis, Tenn., Hickman, Ky., Friday, to New Madrid, Caruthersville, Kennett, Dexter and Skeston. From this city the committee visits Charleston to inspect work on the Jadwin plan of flood control from Birds Point to New Madrid County.

All persons interested in flood control projects are invited to attend the 1 o'clock meeting at the Hotel Marshall dining room.

SIKESTON PEOPLE ATTENDED FORD SHOW

Several hundred people from Skeston visited the Ford auto show that was held in Cape Girardeau the first three days of this week by the Ford Motor Company and the Ford dealers throughout this territory. The Scott County Motor Company furnished free transportation from Skeston to Cape and back to those who did not wish to drive up in their own car.

The auto show was held in a large tent next to the Ford Groves place in Cape. It housed for display all types and models of the New Ford. One of the most interesting displays was a Ford two-door sedan cut in sections so that the innermost working parts could be clearly seen and inspected. There was a man on hand to explain the details of the motor, oiling system, watering system and control and also to give a detailed account of the construction of the body. It made a very interesting display to those who were interested in motor cars.

There was a talkie picture going on in the tent. It gave a full description of the way the metal that goes in the engine and the body is tempered and worked. It told the story from start to finish and explained it in such a way that a man of ordinary knowledge of metal and motor insight could understand it.

The show was free to those who were thoughtful enough to take advantage of the opportunity. During the three days of the show there were between ten and twelve thousand guests present. Some show-

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Jr., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews III, Wednesday evening.

COLE BROS. SHOW GROUND IS A REAL MINATURE CITY ITSELF

The show grounds of the Cole Bros. Circus which will exhibit here Friday, August 1 is a city within itself, lacking only a town council and State charter. It has its own lawyer, postmaster, dentist, doctor, carpenters, detectives, painters, wagon makers, blacksmiths, laundrymen, barbers, shoemakers, tailors, sail-makers, harness makers, store keepers and photographers. It supports a great tented hotel in which thousands of meals are cooked and eaten every day in the year.

Five acres of ground are required for space in which to house the score of tents forming the Cole Bros. Circus. Four gigantic oak poles form the chief support of the biggest tent. Any one of these poles would be sufficient to support the largest mast on any giant sea sailing vessel. The smallest tent is one used to house the circus barber shop.

At night the circus is transported on two special trains of double length cars and each new sun sees the circus institution in another city. In a single season the circus travels about 20,000 miles, making stops in about 200 cities and giving about 400 performances. The Cole Bros. Circus has exhibited in practically every city of any size in the United States. Each year it has grown steadily better and this season it is rated as second to none of its kind.

More than six hundred people are carried with the big circus this year. The number of animals carried exceeds 400. The big tent has been enlarged and now can seat 5000. Two great herds of elephants will be seen. The music is furnished by five bands. Prof. Benj. Fowler and his Military band of 25 soloists, furnish concerts daily at 1 and 7 p. m.

The program is featured by scores of aerialists, acrobats, equestrians and clowns. The big show has 40 clowns, 30 aerialists, 40 equestrians, and 50 acrobats this season.

Individual stars in the circus performance are too numerous to be mentioned but special tribute may be paid to Madam Julia Rebras, intrepid French artist, who faces death twice daily in her loop the loop on a bicycle.

The Hollis riding troupe, England's champion bareback equestrians, with Pinkie Hollis, the greatest somersault rider of all times, is also another of the headliners on the program. Other features include the DeLong sisters, equilibrists of Belgium, The Brock Trio, Viennese aerialists, in perilous lofty mid-air feats and executing triple somersaults from flying trapeze to standing bar; Koban and Sakata, Maxwell trio, Lyle & Irma Comer, Yokio trio and Sylvester Brothers, all well known circus acts which have gained international distinction and rank at the very top of the profession.

A spectacular parade will be given at 11 a. m. Doors to the menagerie open at 1 and 7 p. m., and the performance starts at 2 and 8 p. m.

Our 32nd Year in Charleston

The Unusual

Two sisters—customers of ours for many years—walked all the way (six miles) to Charleston on one of the hottest days during the heat wave to pay us an account of about $200.00 which they had been owing for some time, but had not been able to pay when due. So many people have in late years grown careless about debt paying that an instance of this sort is certainly refreshing to any merchant who does a credit business. We wish Southeast Missouri had many more such folks.

102 Above Today—But Winter's Coming

While trade is not active, our repair men are busy rebuilding a lot of used heaters which were taken in trade during spring months. Some of these are Moore's Air Tights—some are square blasts and others are the regular low priced models. All will be made practically good as new by the addition of new parts and they will be sold at bargain figures. A few sales have already been made to people who know good values. By paying a few dollars every month prompt delivery is guaranteed when the stove is needed.

Good Values In Mattresses

This morning's freight brought us a nice shipment of felt plated mattresses in A1 ticking, nicely side stitched and biscuit tufted—weighing 55 pounds which we are able to sell at $12.50 each. If you are posted on the weights and other points of staple mattresses you must know this is an excellent value. Ask to see them.

Is There One In Your Home?

The budding Miss of tender years who is planning and insisting that she have a bedroom "all her very own" will eventually win out. It may take a little time, but there are few fathers and mothers who can withstand the pressure—and, for that matter, why should they? Parents who are faced with the necessity of such purchases should be interested in several suites we now have in curly maple and imitation walnut which are peculiarly suitable for the purpose mentioned. These outfits are made up of tasty little pieces running in price at $69.50, $85.00 and $125.00 for a complete assembly of four items.

Sellers Cabinets Are "Keen"

A few years back Sellers Kitchen Cabinets cost you $75.00 and up, but because of an immense output the same factory is now furnishing us with cabinets and breakfast sets of the same selected timber and unequalled cabinet work to retail for as little as $39.50. Our cabinet business has been good this year—principally because the Sellers factory has added several super values to their line. Used cabinets may be traded in as part pay.

Tell Us What You Think of It

The store salesmen agree that this new eight-piece walnut dining suite at $125.00 is the most for the money they have offered lately in that particular line. It really is a very pretty suite—one which you usually find priced at $150.00 or more. And remember used dining furniture may be traded in as first payment with the balance falling due in small weekly or monthly amounts. We should like to have your opinion on this number.

MORGAN BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

Jack Morgan, accused slayer of Byron Crain, was bound over to the New Madrid Circuit Court under $7,500 bond following a preliminary hearing held Wednesday at 1 o'clock before Justice Givens in Morehouse. Morgan is accused of having shot and fatally wounded Crain during a roadhouse fray near Morehouse on the night of June 7. Crain died from the effects of the shots on June 20.

Morgan was finally brought to trial Wednesday after the preliminary hearing had been postponed four times previously. The prosecution led by J. Val Baker, prosecuting attorney of New Madrid County and assisted by Milo Gresham of Sikeston and Tom Gallivan of New Madrid wove a strong chain of circumstantial evidence about Morgan. It was pointed out that Morgan acted as master of ceremonies at the roadhouse the night of the fatal shooting; that he had ordered Crain to move his machine and that an argument ensued. Finally, it was claimed that Morgan entered the house immediately after the affair, carrying a pistol. He seemed pale and extremely nervous, witnesses declared. No actual witness of the shooting has been brought forward, nor did the defense offer a single witness. A final stroke of the prosecution hinged upon the fact that Morgan disappeared from Morehouse for several days after the shooting, and that he finally gave himself up and posted bond for appearance at the hearing.

WILL LEARN SIMPLEX SYSTEM IN FREEMONT, NEBRASKA

L. C. Lear, manager of the local Western Union telegraph office and Miss Clara Trousdale, successful candidate out of a field of six applicants will leave today (Friday) for Kansas City to attend a conference of telegraph operators, and will then enter a special school of instruction in Simplex Telegraphy in Freemont, Neb. The Simplex machine has arrived at the local office and will be installed during September. It will be placed in operation by November 1. Greater speed and accuracy in sending and receiving is claimed for the new system.

Mr. Bohan, company representative from Kansas City, spent Tuesday in Sikeston giving special tests to six girls, applicants for the position of operator and assistant manager of the local office.

ST. LOUISAN DIES WHILE VISITING SON IN ESSEX

Finis Jines of St. Louis, 73 years old, died at the home of his son in Essex last Tuesday. Mr. Jines spent several weeks visiting his son, Luther Jines here and then went to Essex where he became ill on July 3. Death came three weeks later resulting from colitis.

Mr. Jines was born in Dahlgreen, Ill., October 15, 1856 and died at the advanced age of 73 years, 9 months and 7 days. The body was removed to the city of his birth, where services were conducted Wednesday afternoon. Welsh of Sikeston was in charge. Interment was made in the Dahlgreen cemetery.

Surviving are five sons and four daughters.

Miss Eythel Dunn of Matthews was the guest of Mrs. Bert Engram and daughter, Strawdie, this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Glover of Fulton, Mo., and little Miss Mary Lou Nixon of Jefferson City were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McReynolds this week.

CAPE MAN CONFESSES TO EXTORTION PLOT

Following an all-night grilling by officers, Harry E. Brown of Cape Girardeau Thursday morning confessed that he played a lone hand in planning and executing the recent extortion plot purported to have been backed by the "Underworld of America". A young man, Ledbetter, picked up by Brown, recently in St. Louis, denied having a part in the plot and charged Brown with a frameup.

Brown, who is a former school teacher, salesman and expert electrician, confessed in full, but stated that he was driven to the extreme of extorting money to provide for his wife and children when he was unable to find work.

Three Cape Girardeau men received threatening letters demanding that sums of money be placed at a lonely spot on Highway 61 north of that city. Brown escaped the trap of officers of Southeast Missouri counties, but a chain of evidence has slowly been woven about Brown.

RAINFALL OF .18 INCHES RECORDED HERE THURS.

A rainfall of eighteen one-hundredths was recorded on the government gauge here early Thursday morning, bringing temporary relief to parched lawns, gardens and farm crops. By mid-day all traces of the shower had disappeared and Old Sol had pushed the mercury into the upper nineties to continue the four-week heat record of high temperature.

Farmers stated that the slight shower would have little or no beneficial effects on farm crops. Corn is damaged fully 60 per cent, and pastures are burned to a crisp brown. Only three crops remain to give encouragement, cotton, peas and beans are now the mainstays of the heat stricken area near here.

Light rainfall was reported in other areas in the State this week. St. Louis, Poplar Bluff, Cape Girardeau, Bismarck, and Ironton reported showers Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Frank Van Horne was called to his former home Monday night on account of the sudden death of his mother.

Ben F. Marshall, Jr., who is spending the month of July with his family in St. Louis, was a Sikeston visitor Wednesday. Ben's family will be returning to their home in Blodgett early in August.

Twelve perfect specimen of Indian pottery and twenty-two very imperfect skeletons, some of them possibly makers of the pottery itself, are the sum total of seven days work on the part of Kinzie Kennett Baker, better known as Shawnee Rock Eagle, and two assistants who for that length of time have been diligently probing a sand dune or "Indian Mound" on the Ned Matthews farm, five miles southeast of here.

Several years ago the owner of the land in question had visions of establishing a perfect peach orchard on the knoll. Either the nature of the ground, subsequent growing seasons or both, however, worked havoc with this dream. The peaches did not materialize, and a few scattered stunted trees bear witness to the experiment.

In the meantime farmer boys and youngsters from the local grade and high school made the would-be orchard their hunting ground for "Indian relics". Occasionally a find of flints, bits of broken pottery and the like would be reported. Sikeston school children formerly went to this particular mound on picnics. They left the city usually fully determined to unearth at least a drove of Indian chiefs and a box full of pottery and flints. Shoveling sand is quite devastating to good resolutions, especially the sporadic inclinations to work on the part of youngsters. Such anthropological expeditions invariably ended when the Indian hunters deserted shovels for whatever potato salad, sandwiches and cold drinks the girls in the class had prepared.

Thus the matter of really exploring systematically this ancient burial ground of the Cayuga Indians drifted along from year to year. The Cayuga tribe incidentally was one of the original Five Tribes of the Iroquois who originated in the New England States and gradually made felt their power as far west as the Mississippi and slightly beyond. Such at least is the supposition of historians.

Some time ago, Mr. Matthews arranged with Kinzie Kennett Baker, a native Southeast Missourian, who has achieved a wide reputation as a student of Indian lore, and as a collector of the remains of their civilization, to delve into the mound. He and two assistants, Tilford West and Bryan Miller have been at work in "the diggings" since Wednesday, July 16.

The work is systematically laid out and carefully executed. A pit or elongated ditch some 18 feet wide and at present 55 feet long is the center of interest. The pit at its deepest point is 4 feet, 10 inches deep, sloping gradually to the western edge of the mound where the work was begun. The two workmen carefully skim off the top layer of sand, taking approximately three inches of sand at each shovelful. The perpendicular bank is thus cut down in successive steps or layers, each step having a width the length of the shovel.

"Pay dirt" differs in color from ordinary sand in the mound. It is marked usually by bits of charcoal, the remains of burial fires which were lighted in honor of the warrior departed. Ashes and bits of charred wood were then cast into the open grave. Then too "pay sand" is marked by dark streaks caused by decomposition of the body and burial wraps. When such streaks are encountered, the workmen are even more cautious than usual, and when the shovel encounters the slightest bit of resistance the coarse work is halted entirely and smaller trowels or hands and fingers alone are brought into play.

Pottery and bones which have lain for a century or more in moist sand are extremely fragile, necessitating the careful procedure outlined. Even then one false move may result in wrecking a perfect specimen. Action of the sun and air soon dries out the pottery allowing more careless handling. Skeletons in numbers have been found, none, however in perfect condition. Whether or not the long-legged former inhabitants of the swamps utilized the bowls of chopped dog and maize placed at their head, and vessels of water likewise buried with the remains is not known. In most cases the transfer from this former vale of malaria infested swamp to the happy hunting grounds has been almost completed. At least the bones are conspicuous by their absence—insofar as they might be mounted in a collection of Indian remains.

Several unusual bits of pottery have been unearthed so far and indications point to more profitable finds before the thirty-day contract expires. One vessel which has caused quite a bit of comment among local collectors is quite novel. Three bulbs connected by small earthen rods form a triangular base which supports a larger globe. A long neck protrudes from the central portion of the globe which incidentally is decorated with a reclining figure. The perfectly shaped bit of pottery probably rested originally in the exclusive wigwam of an Iroquois chieftain, and was prized no doubt as one of the major luxuries.

The remains indicate that the tribe was in truth long-legged. Seven feet from head to toe is the measurement taken by Baker in three specific instances. Whether or not the skeletons measuring this extraordinary length are truly indicative of the height in life or whether some ritual after death called for some unusual mode of burial is not known. This much is certain, 90 per cent of the skeletons are found lying head to the east, feet to the west. This bit of consistency is of value to the investigators, for when they strike any part of a skeleton, they are relatively certain to uncover specimen of pottery by working carefully toward the torso and head of the brave. One warrior was uncovered still grasping a stone hatchet.

"I am well satisfied with the results shown thus far," indicated Mr. Matthews.

"I am using the experience gained in 18 years of hunting Indian relics," stated Kinzie Kennett Baker.

"The work is like play," says Mr. West and Mr. Miller, "you never know what the next shovel will uncover. They add, "but we hope we don't get that Egyptian disease those boys "took" while looking for King Tut."

Sikeston will be host next Sunday to Cairo, Ill., golfers who are playing a return match here. Neither city had officially listed the players who will participate. Scott, medalist of the local club in Southeast Missouri competition, will be absent. He and Mrs. Scott are enjoying a vacation and are visiting among other points, Yellowstone National Park.

Blytheville, Ark., will play a return match here Sunday, August 3.

A PHANTOM PRISONER?

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of a young man lodged in jail here Monday night, suspected of driving a car with stolen license plates. A memorandum to that effect had been left in the office of the Chief of Police, but the day following when meal time arrived, I. N. Kirby could find no prisoner. The memorandum likewise has disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Millem Limbaugh spent Sunday at Big Springs.

Dr. T. C. McClure, Harry Blanton, W. H. Sikes and Ed Coleman were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matthews, Wednesday evening.

Bids will be opened at the Super-
vising Architects office, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., July 30, for taking test pits and to get
other information pertaining to the
foundation for the new postoffice
building in Skeston that is to be erected at an early date. We hope
there will be no serious impediments
found in the local site. Some years
ago the Architects office was build-
ing a custom house at San Francisco
to cost several million dollars and
when the foundation to the immense
structure was finished, one corner
section of the foundation broke off
and sunk out of sight in one night.
Engineers found that at one time an
arm of the sea had extended over the
building site and this corner was over
the pocket of quick sand and the
tons and tons of concrete, granite
and steel were too heavy for the wa-
tery sand to hold it up. It cost the Government $175,000 to sink mats of
cross T-irons and beds of concrete to
fill up the hole so the building could
be completed. At Chicago, after
spending $5,000,000 for a granite
custom house, and after the building
had been accepted but not occupied,
the building cracked, heavy stone
cornices fell to the sidewalk, and the
building was sold to the Chicago
Wrecking Co. for a nominal
sum and they took it down and junked
it. Several blocks over from this Custom House, an entire block of
buildings bulged up and cracked,
caused by the heavy Government
building sinking in a pocket of quick
sand that ran under the city that
forced the block that was built on
another pocket of quick sand to bulge
up and crack. We are not expecting
to find anything of this sort in Ske-
ston, but the Government is mighty
particular.

fers felicitations and wish them all

With the price of wheat still down
around 70 to 80 cents we hope some
genius one of these days will discover
a loaf of bread which will sell for
a trifle less. Bread still costs the
same as it did when wheat was sell-
ing for $2 or upward, yet the seven
or eight loaves which it takes to
equal the value of a bushel of wheat
uses only a small part of the said
bushel of wheat. If the farmer isn't
to get anything for his wheat it is
unfair for his town cousin (and the
farmer himself) to have to go on
paying just the same as if he did
realize something on it.—Caruthers-
ville Democrat.

A steady decline in the prevalence
of bovine tuberculosis in the United States has taken place in the last few years as a result of the co-operative campaign to eradicate the infection, the United States Department of Agriculture reports. The average infection among cattle, for the
entire country, is now 1.7 per cent,
whereas in 1922 it was 4 per cent. On
May 1, 1930, there were 946 counties
officially designated as "modified accredited areas", also 42 towns in Vermont, indicating that these areas are
practically free from bovine tuberculosis.

WORK ALONG RIVER IS BOON TO UNEMPLOYED

"Ole Man River", praised in
rhyme, lauded in prose, loved, feared
and sometimes hated, is really doing something to relieve the unemployment situation.

For since July 1, according to
Capt. L. C. Gordon, executive officer
of the U. S. Engineers, approximately 2000 men have been hired for river
work, bringing the total working
force to date in the Memphis district,
to between 3000 and 3500 men and
that's not all—jobs will be given to
approximately 350 additional men
within the next two or three weeks,
Captain Gordon says.

These openings, he pointed out,
are mainly for common labor and
will be at New Madrid.

The latter part of next week the
engineering force starts work on its
share of the Memphis harbor improvement project, the equipment be-
ing moved down from Osceola, Ark.,
and "spotted" beneath the bluffs between Talbot and Pennsylvania avenues. The government's share of the
project's cost will be $300,000, it was
said.

"Most of the force employed at Osceola", Captain Gordon pointed
out, "will follow to Memphis. Our
working force varies, depending up-
on the jobs. Go up and down the
river any day and you'll see jobless
laborers lolling on the river banks
awaiting the call....many even
sleeping there. How they obtain
sufficient food is a mystery.

"This time last year it was a problem to find labor. We had to ship
workers in from Mobile, St. Louis
and other points. This year there is
an over supply.

"When crew foremen need men on
the jobs in this district they requisition
this office, and we supply them".
Applicants for employment are directed to the personnel office on the

changes in rank among Missouri
counties were made by the 1930 census, in which 83 counties lost and 31

Jasper, which dropped to fifth. Pem-
iscot advanced from nineteenth to
sixth. St. Francois advanced from
eighth to seventh, exchanging places with Dunklin, which dropped from
seventh to eighth. Pettis dropped
from sixth to ninth, and Marion from
ninth to tenth.

The present ranks of counties from 11 to 35, with 1920 rank in paren-
theses, follow: Cape Girardeau 11

ZIMMERMAN THE MAN TO LEAD DEMOCRATS TO VICTORY

The Democrats of Dunklin County present to their fellow Democrats of the 14th Congressional District Hon. Orville Zimmerman of Dunklin County as a candidate for the nomination to Congress.

Mr. Zimmerman is in the prime of life, upstanding and thoroughly qualified; has never been a candidate for any office. He is a most excellent citizen, an active church worker, Mason, member of the Lions Club and American Legion, and of unquestioned character; is a lawyer of great ability, fine address and personality.

He has, in season and out, given his time and his money for the welfare of the party and its nominees. He represents 7500 Democrats of Dunklin County who have always responded to the call for the November victory. There has not been in 25 years a single nominee for any office in the gift of the party and for County could vote, who has not been whom the Democrats of Dunklin aided on the stump by Mr. Zimmerman.

He is an able and eloquent speaker and it is largely due to his unselfish service that Dunklin County has, year after year, responded with huge Democratic majorities.

We believe Dunklin County is entitled to have the candidate for Congress this year. There has never been a Congressman from Dunklin County, although we have contributed more to the majorities of the successful candidates than has any other county in the district. This has been the case for more than 40 years. Other counties about us and over the State have faltered and some of them captured by the enemy, but not so with Dunklin County. The battles have often been fierce, but our ranks have never broken and our majorities continue to grow.

Flood Control is the big problem in the east end of the district. Zimmerman has intimate knowledge of our flood disasters. With him as our standard bearer, Republicans by the hundreds in the east portion of the district will rally to his support in November.

earnestly ask that the Democrats of the 14th District at the primary on August 5, 1930, support Mr. Zimmerman.

Crop rotation, clean fall plowing, and general clean-up of cornstalks or other crop residue are recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for control of barley scab, which causes severe losses in the central and Eastern States. Fields of barley showing scab infection should be allowed to become fully ripe and dry before cutting. This helps to prevent spread of the infection in the bundle and shock. As yet no scab-resistant variety of barley has been developed.

Because of the fact that wheat is cheaper at the present time than corn, farmers can profitably utilize wheat and oats in feeding both old and young chickens. According to County Agent Scott M. Julian, wheat and oats in recent years, have not been recommended widely in Missouri in either grain or mash feed, but this has been because of the fact that wheat has been higher per bushel than yellow corn and oats have been poor in quality. Feeding experiments at the Missouri College of Agriculture indicate that excellent results may be obtained by using a large proportion of wheat and oats in poultry rations. It is necessary to emphasize at this point that oats should be heavy in weight, that is weighing more than 34 pounds to the bushel, if they are to be used in poultry rations. Light, chaffy oats are too bulky to be utilized to the best advantage by chickens. Therefore, it is not desirable under any circumstances to use poor quality oats in the poultry ration for either young or old stock.

In the past corn has been regarded as the basis for grain foods. A satisfactory grain mixture may be composed of 100 pounds of corn and 100 pounds of wheat, or a good mixture may be made of 100 pounds of corn, 100 pounds of wheat and 100 pounds of heavy oats. Experimental results indicate that digestive disturbances might be caused by using wheat exclusively for chicken feed. For this reason, it is suggested that corn and heavy oats be used with wheat for the grain food in feeding laying hens. It is not desirable to use, even heavy oats, in feeding young stock until they are mature in size.

A satisfactory laying mash for the hens may be composed of 200 pounds corn meal, 200 pounds ground wheat, 200 pounds heavy ground oats, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt. This mash mixture is especially applicable in feeding the laying hens on those farms where the oats are high in quality and heavy in weight. In those communities where oats are not so high in quality, but weigh more than 32 pounds to the bushel, the following mash mixture may be used with a high degree of success: 200 pounds corn meal, 300 pounds ground wheat, 100 pounds ground oats, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt.

On farms where heavy oats are not available for use in the mash mixture a mash food may be made up of 200 pounds corn meal, 200 pounds ground wheat 200 pounds shorts or finely ground bran, 150 pounds meat scraps and 7 1-2 pounds salt.

A culling school will be held on the afternoon of Monday, August 4 at the home of Mrs. A. Kirsch, located at the intersection of Highway 61 in the spur to Lilbourn.

This is the fourth meeting of this kind to be held in New Madrid County and is decidedly worthwhile for poultry raisers. Harold Canfield, Poultry Specialist, from the Missouri College of Agriculture will be in charge of the meeting assisted by the County Agent, Scott M. Julian. The main work will be taken up with the culling of poultry in detail, but other questions connected with chicken raising will also be taken care of.

SHORTS MAY BE SHORTS BUT NOT WITH MATH TEACHER

Columbia, July 22.—A woman member of the University of Missouri faculty yesterday took summary action to put an end to an epidemic of "shorts" starting among men students.

Robert Galbraith, Chicago, clad in shorts, entered a class in mathematics taught by Nola E. Anderson. Miss Anderson didn't like it. She told him about it. The class burst into laughter. The student, his cheeks aflame, fled the classroom.

"Shorts" being worn on the Missouri campus vary from the lower half of combination underwear, brilliantly striped, to white flannel trousers sheared off just above the knee. No women students have thus far ventured forth in the new attire.

SENATORS INSIST U. S. ACT IN WHEAT CRISIS

Washington, July 22.—Insistence the Farm Board take action to increase the present price of wheat to the farmer came from Senators of four wheat growing States today on the heels of Chairman Legge's statement that criticism of the board's wheat policy is mostly "political bunk".

In a conference with Chairman Legge, five Senators, led by Capper of Kansas, urged the board to act "to aid the present critical situation". Something should be done, they contended, "to give the farmer a better price while the wheat still is in his hands and before it gets into the hands of speculators".

The group included Capper and Allen of Kansas; Pine of Oklahoma; Howell of Nebraska and McMaster of South Dakota.

The purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat of the 1930 crop was again urged by Senator Capper. The suggestion the government should buy the wheat and thus relieve the market situation, and either sell or give the grain to China or India was made by the other Senators.

The buildings in school district No. 3 of Mississippi County, will be placed 700 feet southwest of their present location, according to bids asked yesterday by the Memphis District, U. S. Engineers, to be opened July 28.

Though rats are probably decreasing in numbers, these pests are still mankind's greatest enemies in the animal world, and man should wage constant warfare against them. The most important thing in rat control is to remove rat shelters or make them inaccessible. The most common shelters are dead spaces within double walls and beneath floors, stored produce and supplies, lumber piles and trash or refuse. Abolish the rats' food supply by storing foodstuffs in rat-proof buildings or rooms and by disposing of waste and garbage in tightly covered receptacles. Poisoning, fumigating and trapping are methods of destroying rats. Small terrier dogs, especially when taught to hunt by themselves, often keep a farm free from rats.

ROADS CUT RATES BELOW BUS LINES

Close on the heels of further rate cuts by the bus lines, the Frisco and the Illinois Central Railroads yesterday announced another reduction in their rates from St. Louis to Memphis.

The new rates, effective Tuesday, is $5 for a round trip. This is one dollar below the new bus rate and the same as the bus rate for a one-way ticket. The old rail rate was $11.19 one way, $22.38 two ways, but this was reduced to $6 for a round trip when the battle between busses and steam trains for business began.

Earlier this week the Atlantic & Pacific Stages, Pickwick Greyhound Lines, and the bus line operated by the Cotton Belt Railroad announced the $6 round trip rate to Memphis. The rate slashing began when the Cotton Belt Line entered the field with rates below the rail schedule and the Illinois Central and Frisco Lines retaliated with the $6 rates.

Sweet corn loses its sugar content very quickly after being removed from the stalk and when possible should be picked only an hour or so before it is to be cooked.

The Hessian fly is the worst insect enemy of wheat in the United States. Farmers must depend on preventive measures to control this pest. These include moderately late sowing, rotation of crops, plowing-under of stubble, destruction of volunteer wheat, enrichment of the soil, thorough preparation of the seedbed, and good seed.

The Standard, or awful good security.It is true there has been a great deal of talk about Morehouse as be-
ing the "oasis in the desert of thirst",
but if we Skestonians did not seek
the cooling beverage, there would be
no home brew joints in that city. A
few bad apples will damage the entire barrel, so a few bad actors at Morehouse has given the town a bad
name. Just lots of fine people live
there and some of these days they
are going to rise up and force the
few undesirables to leave the community. The Sheriff and the Prosecuting Attorney of that county, we
feel certain, will assist the good people to clean up the "joints" if called upon. Jail and penitentiary sentences might help, too.A very strong chain of circumstantial evidence was woven around Jack
Morgan at Morehouse, Wednesday,
at the preliminary hearing for shooting Byron Crain at "Zula's Place".
The trial in the circuit court of New
Madrid will likely develop surprises
as the defense offered no evidence at
the preliminary hearing.The Standard expects to spill a few

date. False claims and printed mis-

WHAT KONJOLA

MRS. ANNA SCHNELMAN

Konjola is a medicine for the aged
and the infant; for all the family. It
contains no alcohol, no nerve-dead-
ening drugs, no heart depressing
chemicals. It needs no such ingredients. Read, now, the words of this
happy mother, Mrs. Anna Schnelmann, 7131 Vermont avenue, St. Louis, who says:"My daughter Bernice, 13, was in a terribly run down condition. She had
no desire to play, and school work
was a burden. She had no appetite,
no ambition, and after meals complained of severe pains. She was under weight, and not a thing we tried
helped her. But in three weeks after
taking Konjola a wonderful change
came over her. She gained six
pounds; her appetite is good and she
has no stomach pains nor headaches.
She hardly seems like the same little
girl, and is taking pleasure in her
school work and is out playing every
day. Konjola certainly brought happiness to both of us."Don't get the idea that Konjola is "Just another medicine". Konjola is
new and different. A test will prove
to you why Konjola is the most wide-

SKESTON MISSOURIAN ODDITY APPEARS
AMONG CANNAS PLANTED
IN WATERWORKS PARKIf left to Ed Branham, assistant to Lon Swanner, water commissioner,
cannas would be variegated.A casual observer noticed a peculi-arity in one of the hundreds of can-
nas bordering the neat park. At
first sight it appeared that a yellow
canna bore a single red flower. Closer
inspection revealed, however, that
the "Tiger Lily" canna had claim to
real distinction. Each petal carries
a vertical line of demarkation. One-
half is solid red, the other is yellow.
Experts on such matters insist that
the form of variegation is most unusual.If the "sport" or mutation can be fixed, Branham can claim credit for a
new variety. It is necessary, how-
ever, to "fix" the mutation for four
consecutive years before it can be
marketed as a new variety.

ELDER JOHN B. HUFFMAN WILL PREACH AGAIN IN MALONE PARK SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Elder John B. Huffman, Chairman of the Pentecostal church of God, announces that, due to several prominent citizens requesting him to preach again in Malone Park, he has acceded to their demands and announces that he will preach again next Saturday evening, July 26, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, July 27. They will try to have more seats arranged this time. The writer is glad that so many business men and prominent people and good women from some of the other churches were present Sunday evening. There were enough in cars, around the stand and away back from the stand standing up and on the ground to have filled several stands—a large audience present.

Saturday night, he will preach on "The Great Judgment Day" or "Final Judgment Day"—first part. Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, he will present the "Great Judgment Day"—second part. Sunday afternoon, the speaker will take a few minutes to show where the different nations and languages came from, and from whence came "The Negro". In the same service he will answer by the Bible "Is there a real Hell?" or just the grave, as some of the Hebrew words, "Schoel", and Greek words "Hades", assert. He will show that there is a real hell, and that if there is no hell, there is no heaven or place of eternal rest.

Everybody invited to hear these special discourses. Elder Huffman has traveled 120,000 miles over the United States and Canada preaching the gospel to 24 different nationalities.

Come and bring the children with you and let them cry, if they can't help it. It won't bother me if a dozen cry at a time, as I have nothing written. It comes from the heart and a knowledge of the word of God. The poorest person and the richest are invited. Folks from all the churches and all sinners especially tendered an invitation. If you only have overalls or one dress, come. If you want to wear the finest and costliest apparel, come on. Everybody cordially welcomed. No respect to persons. All treated alike.

Pentecostal Church of God will erect a nice house of worship in Sikeston some time before March 1, perhaps by January 1, 1930.—John Huffman.

Several pink bollworms stolen away in a small package of cottonseed by mail from India met a timely death recently when the package was examined by a United States plant quarantine inspector at Atlanta, Ga. The inspector immediately ordered the contraband package burned, thus preventing a potential invasion by this pest. The pink bollworm is a destructive pest of cotton, regarded by entomologists as at least in the same class with the boll weevil.

NEED OF RAIN IS GENERAL OVER SOUTH AND CENTRAL PORTION OF MISSOURI

A brief 600-mile combination tour of inspection and vacation reveals that farmers in Southeast Missouri, Southern and Central Illinois, Central Missouri and the Ozark section of this State have one thing in common—they need rain.

One young man interested in fishing took particular pains to include his tackle, rod, reel and supplies when he left on a vacation trip. Visions of cool, deep swimming holes, and the renewing of old-time acquaintances with good fishing places assumed prominent places on the schedule of things to be done.

Farmers and drainage districts near the old home town had in the meantime straightened the channel of the two more promising rivers. The young man in question found farm-to-market traffic heavy and the dust fierce in the new channel which was to have been the scene of piscatorial battles. Farmers were driving to town using the creek bed as a short cut highway.

Truck gardeners in Southern Illinois were busy shipping cucumbers, tomatoes and green beans to market. Peaches in the fruit belt and around shipping centers, Anna, Cobden and other points in Southern Illinois are absent this year. Frost killed the entire crop.

Farmers in Missouri's black land belt, Saline, Pettis and Lafayette Counties, informed the roving correspondent that they planned to start cutting corn for silage this week, in a drastic effort to save something for feed this winter. The crop is firing badly, late corn alone giving promise of a short crop provided it gets rain within the next ten days or two weeks.

A peculiar condition exists in the Missouri Ozarks. Thousands of acres of woodland noticed on the way

from St. Louis to Poplar Bluff, appear in Autumn hues. Tops of the Ozark hills and southern slopes are badly fired, and foliage appears to the observer to be tinted brown and red as in late fall.

To make white icing which never fails, put into a double boiler one

cup of sugar, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 egg white, not beaten, and 1-8 teaspoon of salt. Have the water in the lower part boiling. Commence beating the mixture at once with a Doer egg beater and beat constantly while it cooks for seven or eight minutes. It should then look just like ordinary boiled frosting and should be almost thick enough to spread. Take it from the stove, add 1-2 teaspoon of vanilla and continue to beat about 5 minutes or until it has thickened.

"HEEL OF MISSOURI"

MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF ILLUSTRIOUS SON

Steele, Mo., July 21.—The "Heel of Missouri"—the sub-tropical empire extending south of the famous Missouri Compromise line into the great independent "republic" of Arkansas—stands as a lasting monument to the memory of one of Southeast Missouri's most illustrious sons—Col. John Hardeman Walker.

It was through the prestige, influence and untiring efforts of this pioneer Missourian that the southern boundary line of the State was extended into the territory of Arkansas, around Pemiscot, Dunklin and a part of New Madrid Counties, that Missouri is today the proud owner of 1100 square miles of the finest alluvial soil on the face of the globe, and the pages of Arkansas history robbed of the name—John Hardeman Walker—in her long and growing list of distinguished sons.

In 1794, the French-Canadian trader and trader—François LeSieur, who with his brother, Joseph, had settled in New Madrid in 1783, moved to Pemiscot County and opened a trading post at Little Prairie, about two miles south of the present site of Caruthersville. The post surrounded by a great number of Indians and an abundance of wild game—prospered from the start and was soon numbered among the important trading posts of the Mississippi valley. In 1810, the village boasted of 24 log cabins and about 100 people, including the personnel of the old Spanish fort St. Fernando.

It was about the year 1810, that Walker, a lad of 16 years, crossed the Mississippi River from his home in Fayette County, Tenn.—landed at Little Prairie, or Fort St. Fernando, where he remained until the time of his death—April 30, 1860. He was the first white man to settle in the territory of Pemiscot County for the sole purpose of farming and stock raising. He soon acquired a large acreage of wild land along the banks of the Mississippi, from Little Prairie to a point north of the old site of Gayoso, and an immense herd of wild cattle that roamed the swamps of Pemiscot County at will. The cattle, without trouble or expense, thrived on the wild grass and tall cane that skirted the banks of the numerous lakes of the county until it is said that the country swarmed with wild cattle—valued only for their hides and what little beef was needed to supply the tables of the few scattered families of the county.

An old settlement, on Pemiscot Bayou, three miles west of Steele, is said to have derived its name "Cow-skin" from the fact that each year Walker would journey to the heart of the wilderness and slaughter hundreds of cattle—skin them, and dry their hides along the banks of the bayou before shipping them south to New Orleans.

The New Madrid earthquake of 1811-12, when the alluvial valley of Southeast Missouri was cast into semi-darkness and the surface of the earth rolled and tumbled as angry waves of a storm tossed sea—trees were uprooted—lake created, and the log constructed home of the pioneer thrown into instant ruin. The people, panic stricken, fled for their lives. The country was practically depopulated—Walker alone remaining in the territory now designated as Pemiscot County.

He remained to become the "Czar of the Valley"—"the law" of the "Heel of Missouri"—subject only to the will of his friends—the constituted authorities of New Madrid. He was without question the most prominent and influential man of his day in this section of the State.

From the year 1817, when the first petitions were circulated asking Congress to authorize the organization of a State government until the act of Congress of March 6, 1820, authorizing the organization of the new State—the Missouri boundary line dispute had fired the country with the country with the question of the question of slavery which at times threatened the very foundation of the federal government. The much debated question was settled by the "famous" Missouri Compromise, and the establishment of slavery and anti-slavery line as parallel 36 degrees and 30' north latitude. In the first memorial to Congress this line was designated as the southern boundary line of the proposed State, leaving the "Heel of Missouri" in the unorganized territory of Arkansas.

Through the personal efforts of Colonel Walker, assisted by his brother-in-law, Dr. Robert D. Dawson, of New Madrid, then a member of the territorial council; Gen. Jas. Evans, United States Senator, and Judge Richard J. Thomas, a prominent lawyer of Jackson, Mo., the territorial legislature on November 22, 1818, adopted a memorial to Congress, asking that the southern boundary line of the State be extended to include the territory between the Mississippi and St. Francois rivers as far south as the 36th parallel. This request was granted and the holdings of Colonel Walker in the "Heel of Missouri" annexed to the new State of Missouri.

In 1821, Colonel Walker was elected and served as the first sheriff of New Madrid County, after which he was elected presiding judge of the county court, with all the territory now included in Pemiscot, Dunklin, Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid Counties under his jurisdiction.

With the organization of Pemiscot County in 1851, Walker practically retired from public life. However, after an active and successful public career, crowded with accomplishments, his every undertaking crowned with the laurel wreath of victory—he refused to quit.

In 1857, at the age of 63, he laid off the city of Caruthersville, the capital of Pemiscot County, now the oldest and most beautiful city in the "Heel of Missouri" which has replaced the old capital city of Gayoso, which went into the river over fifty years ago. Little Prairie, the old home of Colonel Walker, preceded Gayoso by several years as a victim of the ravages of the mighty Father of Waters—no trace of either of the old towns remains. Caruthersville alone remains of the river towns in this section of the State.

A plain marble slab, in the shadow of the palatial Eastwood Memorial Methodist Church, in the heart of the City of Caruthersville, marks the grave of Col. John Hardeman Walker, who, nearly three quarters of a century ago was laid to rest in the walnut grove in the outskirts of the village of Caruthersville—established by Walker in memory of the all but forgotten village of Little Prairie.—Commercial Appeal.

Pasture is valuable for hogs but for best results should not be grazed too closely. Put in any one lot only as many hogs as can get abundant feed. Ordinarily an acre will furnish pasture for from 5 to 15 hogs averaging 100 pounds. It is a good plan to have two pastures and alternate them; then they can be grazed fairly close and will still provide good, succulent feed. Pasture crops that are allowed to mature do not furnish good feed for hogs.

The house centipede is not a true insect, but a species of "thousand legs". It aids in keeping down the number of such pests as house flies, roaches, moths and other insects. Centipedes seldom bite but should they do so, dress the wound with household ammonia. To get rid of centipedes, kill all individuals that appear and dust any moist places around pipes and so on with pyrethrum powder.

Poultry that arrives at the market "overcopped" may sell for a lower price or may be subject to deduction in weight to allow for the feed in the crops. To prevent this, feed birds liberally just before shipment but put no feed in the coops, if they are to reach the market the same day they are shipped. If they will not arrive at the market for 24 hours or longer, nail in the coop one or two tin cans filled with corn well soaked in water.

SIKESTON PEOPLE AT- TENDED FORD SHOW

Several hundred people from Sikeston visited the Ford auto show that was held in Cape Girardeau the first three days of this week by the Ford Motor Company and the Ford dealers throughout this territory. The Scott County Motor Company furnished free transportation from Sikeston to Cape and back to those who did not wish to drive up in their own car.

The auto show was held in a large tent next to the Ford Groves place in Cape. It housed for display all types and models of the New Ford. One of the most interesting displays was a Ford two-door sedan cut in sections so that the innermost working parts could be clearly seen and inspected. There was a man on hand to explain the details of the motor, oiling system, watering system and control and also to give a detailed account of the construction of the body. It made a very interesting display to those who were interested in motor cars.

There was a talkie picture going on in the tent. It gave a full description of the way the metal that goes in the engine and the body is tempered and worked. It told the story from start to finish and explained it in such a way that a man of ordinary knowledge of metal and motor insight could understand it.

The show was free to those who were thoughtful enough to take advantage of the opportunity. During the three days of the show there were between ten and twelve thousand guests present. Some show-

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Jr. were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Matthews III, Wednesday evening.

COLE BROS. SHOW GROUND IS A REAL MINATURE CITY ITSELF

The show grounds of the Cole Bros. Circus which will exhibit here Friday, August 1 is a city within itself, lacking only a town council and State charter. It has its own law, carpenter, postmaster, dentist, doctor, carpenters, detectives, painters, wagon makers, blacksmiths, laundrymen, barbers, shoemakers, tailors, sail-makers, harness makers, store keepers and photographers. It supports a great tented hotel in which thousands of meals are cooked and eaten every day in the year.

Five acres of ground are required for space in which to house the score of tents forming the Cole Bros. Circus. Four gigantic oak poles form the chief support of the biggest tent. Any one of these poles would be sufficient to support the largest mast on any giant sea sailing vessel. The smallest tent is one used to house the circus barber shop.

At night the circus is transported on two special trains of double length cars and each new sun sees the circus institution in another city. In a single season the circus travels about 20,000 miles, making stops in about 200 cities and giving about 400 performances. The Cole Bros. Circus has exhibited in practically every city of any size in the United States. Each year it has grown steadily better and this season it is rated as second to none of its kind.

More than six hundred people are carried with the big circus this year. The number of animals carried exceeds 400. The big tent has been enlarged and now can seat 5000. Two great herds of elephants will be seen. The music is furnished by five bands. Prof. Benj. Fowler and his Military band of 25 soloists, furnish concerts daily at 1 and 7 p. m.

The program is featured by scores of aerialists, acrobats, equestrians and clowns. The big show has 40 clowns, 30 aerialists, 40 equestrians, and 50 acrobats this season.

Individual stars in the circus performance are too numerous to be mentioned but special tribute may be paid to Madam Julia Robras, intrepid French artiste, who faces death twice daily in her loop the loop on a bicycle.

The Hollis riding troupe, England's champion bareback equestrians, with Pinkie Hollis, the greatest somersault rider of all times, is also another of the headliners on the program. Other features include the DeLong sisters, equilibrists of Belgium, The Brock Trio, Viennese aerialists, in perilous lofty mid-air feats and executing triple somersaults from flying trapeze to standing bar; Koban and Sakata, Maxwell trio, Lyle & Irma Corner, Yokio trio and Sylvester Brothers, all well known circus acts which have gained international distinction and rank at the very top of the profession.

A spectacular parade will be given at 11 a. m. Doors to the menagerie open at 1 and 7 p. m., and the performance starts at 2 and 8 p. m.

The Unusual

Two sisters—customers of ours for many years—walked all the way (six miles) to Charleston on one of the hottest days during the heat wave to pay us an account of about $200.00 which they had been owing for some time, but had not been able to pay when due. So many people have in late years grown careless about debt paying that an instance of this sort is certainly refreshing to any merchant who does a credit business. We wish Southeast Missouri had many more such folks.

102 Above Today—But Winter's Coming

While trade is not active, our repair men are busy rebuilding a lot of used heaters which were taken in trade during spring months. Some of these are Moore's Air Tights—some are square blasts and others are the regular low priced models. All will be made practically good as new by the addition of new parts and they will be sold at bargain figures. A few sales have already been made to people who know good values. By paying a few dollars every month prompt delivery is guaranteed when the stove is needed.

Good Values In Mattresses

This morning's freight brought us a nice shipment of felt plated mattresses in A1 ticking, nicely side stitched and biscuit tufted—weighing 55 pounds which we are able to sell at $12.50 each. If you are posted on the weights and other points of staple mattresses you must know this is an excellent value. Ask to see them.

Is There One In Your Home?

The budding Miss of tender years who is planning and insisting that she have a bedroom "all her very own" will eventually win out. It may take a little time, but there are few fathers and mothers who can withstand the pressure—and, for that matter, why should they? Parents who are faced with the necessity of such purchases should be interested in several suites we now have in curly maple and imitation walnut which are peculiarly suitable for the purpose mentioned. These outfits are made up of tasty little pieces running in price at $69.50, $85.00 and $125.00 for a complete assembly of four items.

Sellers Cabinets Are "Keen"

A few years back Sellers Kitchen Cabinets cost you $75.00 and up, but because of an immense output the same factory is now furnishing us with cabinets and breakfast sets of the same selected timber and unequal cabinet work to retail for as little as $39.50. Our cabinet business has been good this year—principally because the Sellers factory has added several super values to their line. Used cabinets may be traded in as part pay.

Tell Us What You Think of It

The store salesmen agree that this new eight-piece walnut dining suite at $125.00 is the most for the money they have offered lately in that particular line. It really is a very pretty suite—one which you usually find priced at $150.00 or more. And remember used dining furniture may be traded in as first payment with the balance falling due in small weekly or monthly amounts. We should like to have your opinion on this number.

FARRIS-JONES BUILDING TO HOUSE SHEPPARD CAFE

Word has been received that Sheppard's Cafe, now located in a small store building between Malone Theatre and Farris-Jones Grocery and Hardware Store, will be located in the east half of the Farris-Jones room. Work of installing a wall-board partition is being directed by John Young, owner of the building and author of the statement.

An unconfirmed rumor states that The Herald office may be moved in the near future to the Young Building on Malone avenue.

The cafe operated by Mr. and

Mrs. Sheppard has enjoyed a steady increase in patronage. "Home Cooking" and plenty of it seems to appeal to Sikestonians and visitors, making a change from the cramped quarters necessary.
